

The Arc Baltimore is looking for passionate and compassionate people to join our staff and provide life-changing supports to individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities. The individuals we support are more active in the community than ever before. They are living in Baltimore's neighborhoods; they are going to work, paying their bills, going out with friends. They are living and thriving in the community.

We have multiple open positions at The Arc Baltimore. Our available positions range from direct support professionals supporting people with disabilities at home and at work to administrative positions, case managers and program directors. We encourage qualified applicants to apply for any of the openings listed on our job board accessed by clicking the buttons below. During the phone screening process, we will try to match a position that works best with your schedule and location preference.
